

Cabin Report

[Feb. / Mar. 1983 Newsletter]

[A Feb. / Mar., 1983 Newsletter article by the Cabin Committee, most probably written by Jacque Jenkins, reminding club members that the project is not over, more work needs to be done, more workers are needed!]

We have cabin news. That's good!

No that's bad. It's not finished. We still have a few shingles to put on the roof, the windows are not in place, the floor has not been installed and the money is getting very short.

That's bad! No that's good

What's good about it?

Well, the roof doesn't leak, the shutters and outer doors are installed with their locking bars in place, the loft floor is in place and is being used, the fireplace works great and so does the cook stove.

That's good! No, that's bad!

What's bad?

Well, we have gotten so much done that people must be thinking that we are finished. There has been an average of only 2 to 8 people turning out to work on the weekends for the past few months.

That's good you get 6 or 8!

No, that's bad! We could easily use more.

As we said before there are still some major as well as many minor jobs to be done. We don't, however, just need workers, we need more workers who would be willing to drive so that car pools can be formed. Cars now don't hold as many people and backpacks as before but cars could carry people while pickup trucks carry backpacks.

Remember, it's cozy and dry in the cabin. The companionship in the evening is pleasant, the food (if you elect to join in the community meal) is good and plentiful and taking part in the building of the cabin gives one a real sense of accomplishment.

Believe me, that's good!
